LITHIUM CARBONICUM LI2CO3

SUBSTANCE

The Element Lithium (Li)¹

Lithium is a metallic element in group 1 of the periodic table with an atomic number 3 and atomic weight of 6.941. It is a ductile, silvery shining metal, which has an initially yellow later grey tarnished sectional plane. According to its position in group 1 of the periodic table its valence is 1 and its compounds are colourless. As with all alkaline metals (all the chemical elements in group 1 of the periodic table with the valence of 1: Natrium, Kalium, Rubidium, Caesium and Francium) it is very reactive. Lithium oxidizes when in contact with air forming the oxide Li2O and the nitride Li3N. It reacts with water by forming hydrogen and Lithium-Hydroxide LiOH and burns with an intense red light forming Lithium-Oxide Li2O. Lithium compounds also burn with a crimson colored flame.

The Swedish chemist August Arfvedson discovered the metal in the year 1817 in the mineral petalite, found in Sweden. It was called "Lithion" (after the greek word "lithos" = rock) because, in contrast to natrium or kalium that had been found thus far only in plant ashes, it was initially located in a mineral. It is extracted from Lithium containing minerals (spodumen, amblygonite, lepidolith, petalite) mined in the USA, Canada, Russia, China, Australia, Zimbabwe, Brazil, Austria, Zaire and salt lakes in North and South America. In nature, Lithium can be found only in very small amounts in plant ashes. Leeser ² writes: "Plants of the ranunculaceae and solanaceae families show particular affinity to Lithium. They contain by far more Lithium than all other plants growing in the same soil."

It is used in nuclear technology to produce tritium, as an insulator (the Lithium isotope absorbs neutrons), as a reactor coolant. Various Lithium alloys are used for aerospace technologies, in the petroleum industry, in the ceramic industry, for high capacity batteries, as Lithium salts (Lithium carbonate, Lithium sulfate, Lithium acetate) and in cases of psychoses (see "The manic-depressive disease"). Mogens Schou writes in his book "Lithium treatment of the manic-depressive disease" that only the Lithium part of the salts – the Lithium ion - is medicinally active. It is basically irrelevant which salt is used.

Because of its position in the periodic system, some properties of Lithium are more closely related to Magnesium than to Natrium. Like lead, it can be manufactured into wire or paper-thin laminate. Combined with water, this metal does not melt into a small pellet like Natrium and Kalium.

The Substance Lithium carbonicum

Lithium carbonate Li2CO3 is a white, light, crystalline powder, which is barely soluble in water and non-soluble in alcohol. It is one of the few salts that is soluble in cold rather than warm water.

Lithium carbonate is the most important basic substance for the preparation of other Lithium compounds. In medicine it is part of Lithium preparations since 1949.

The manic-depressive disease⁴

...the mania

Mania is a period of abnormal euphoria with increased activity. It is combined with irritability, ranging from impulsive reactions to violence. Rapid mental sequences fill the mind with ideas, which leaves the patient with little desire for sleep. Speech is hurried, ceaseless and often witty and lively with possible hurtful taunts. As part of this incredible enthusiasm, self-assessment is naturally altered. The extreme self-confidence without criticism combined with enormous vitality and inhibition leads obviously to major crises, because these patients completely over-extend and, therefore, ruin themselves financially or destroy relationships and much more. In this phase we see little discernment in regards to the disease, which results in a tremendous burden for family and friends. In such phases the person frequently reduces food intake and exhausts him or herself physically. Often patients do not feel sick in this stage and refuse treatment.

...the depression

Depression is a spell of sadness and lack of motivation. It displays the opposite of the mania with a lack of self-confidence and delayed mental activity. On the emotional plane the patient feels nothing. They cannot cry, feel guilty and accuse themselves, which can lead to thoughts and attempts of suicide. Apart from resignation, delayed mental activity, fatigue and a feeling of heaviness, anxiety may arise, which makes the patient appear restless and driven. In this stage we also see sleeping disorders. They are now caused by worrying and come possibly with an increased desire for sleep. Physically the patients become sluggish and the decrease in motion can cause constipation and problems with menstruation. Libido that was exaggerated during the mania is now reduced or non-existing.

A combined condition is also known, when both conditions take turns or exist simultaneously, for example manic restlessness combined with deep melancholy.

Sometimes, between the opposing phases, patients are completely free of symptoms and appear to be healthy. The phases of the disease can last 3 to 6 months or appear periodically at certain times, for example in spring, summer, fall and winter. Clinical research shows that this disease does not diminish over time, but it continues its phases.

If the course of the disease is unipolar, either only depressive or only manic phases can be seen (this is rather rare).

...the cause

The cause of the disease is unknown. A genetic predisposition is assumed, which, prompted by external stimuli, excites the individual disposition. But also brain metabolism is most likely of importance. The disease may be brought about by psychological causes or times of any increased stress.

The diagnosis of the disease is more unambiguous in its manic phase than in the phase of depression, which is "endogenic".5.

Lithium therapy

Lithium was used in the medicinal therapy of gout treatment as early as 1850. Examples of its additional use are: as a stimulant, sedative, in treatment of diabetis, infectious diseases or cancer and as an additive in toothpastes. Because effectiveness could not be confirmed, these treatments were discontinued.

In the years after WW II, Lithium chloride was used as a substitute for regular table salt (Natrium chloride) with patients that were on a low sodium diet due to a kidney or heart disease. This proved to be dangerous. Cases of poisoning were reported, some fatal, and the therapy was discontinued.

Since 1949 has been known that Lithium salts can influence the frequency and intensity of manic-depressive psychosis. It has been established that Lithium has an impact on the cell membranes, impulse transmission, hormones and metabolism.

Lithium preparations were first used in the years after WW II for manic-depressive psychosis. Because of the experience with poisoning from continuous use, the preparations were initially given with caution.

Prof. B. Müller-Oerlinghausen, MD says: "Long term Lithium therapy has changed the world." 6. As the prophylactic use of Lithium was discovered the first psychotherapeutic for treatment of schizophrenic psychoses were instituted. It is also used to reduce the risk of relaps into this intermittent disease.

John Cade, an Australian psychiatrist, used lithium salts on lab guinea-pigs. He found out that they calmed down and were less reactive towards external stimulants without appearing sleepy. This gave him the idea to treat over-stimulated psychiatric patients. Initially the effects were not steady, but in some patients the symptoms disappeared within one week. They returned again as soon as the Lithium treatment was discontinued. A further double-blind trial confirmed: Lithium clearly decreases manic euphoria. However, the prophylactic use in cases of manic-depressive disease was disputed for a long time in scientific literature. Today there is positive proof for the effectiveness of Lithium preventing recidivism in bipolar and unipolar patients.

The benefit of Lithium therapy over other neuroleptic drugs is that Lithium suppresses the manic symptoms without altering other psychological functions noticeably. The effectiveness, however, sets in slowly, which means after taking approximately 6-8 days. It is recommended to use this as a long term treatment. Regular blood tests are necessary to control side effects and reciprocal actions. As a prophylaxis, Lithium treatment is supposed to prevent recidivism, which means thereby controlling the disease. Nevertheless, the disease cannot be cured by Lithium treatment.

It is of great importance to remember that Lithium works almost exclusively with manic-depressive disease and is of no effect with psychogenic depressions or depressive sadness as part of a neurosis.

Lithium pills contain Lithium carbonate, Lithium sulfate, Lithium aspartate or Lithium acetate. Because only Lithium is an active ingredient, the compound is of minor importance.

...pharmacology and toxicology

Lithium salts are reabsorbed in the intestines when taken orally. As mentioned above, using Lithium containing diet salts in a Natrium chloride (table salt) free diet produced poisoning. The symptoms of poisoning appeared in a state of table salt deficiency and improved when table salt was given. Oral intake of Lithium salts in large doses without elimination of table salt at the same time leads to an increased diuresis with secretion of high amounts of cations, mainly Na+. Signs of poisoning may arise in cases of table salt deficiency, intercurrent diseases, stress situations, or massive Lithium intake⁷.

...the existing provings

C. Hering⁹ conducted the first provings. He collected many symptoms of the urinary tract, including frequent urination, burning in the urethra, cloudy urine containing mucus deposits and red-brown sediments, as well as dark caustic urine. In addition to the diathesis of increased uric acid output, he stresses a rheumatic gouty component with stiffness of the body, itching around the joints, swelling of finger and toe joints, and weakness of knees and back. Worth mentioning are cardiac complaints that are worse before urination and end after urination. As with Natrium carbonicum dyspeptic complaints like nausea, stomach problems and headache appear.

The symptoms collected in Herings provings are repeated in other materia medicas and new experiences and cases are added like in Choudhuri's "Study of Materia Medica", Hale's "Materia Medica", Farrington and Allen's "Encyclopedia, ¹⁰. As part of our summary of unusual symptoms we will consider the symptoms that were collected in the old homeopathic provings and can be confirmed in this present proving.

The English version of the complete repertory 4.5 in MacRepertory¹¹ lists 948 symptoms (1999 edition), which were collected from provings up to that date. (see...the repertory)

... the trituration

Die homöopathische Verreibung und Potenzierung der Ausgangssubstanz Lithium carbonicum fand in der Enzian-Apotheke in München statt (Mittel in verschiedenen Potenzen können von dort bezogen werdensiehe Bezugsquellen). Das Mittel wurde bis zur C 3 verrieben und von hier verschüttelt bis zur C 6 und C 30.

The homeopathic trituration and potentization of the original substance Lithium carbonicum took place at the Enzian pharmacy in Munich (Remedies in different potencies can be obtained there – see sources of supply). The remedy was triturated up to 3C and then succussed up to 6C and 30C.

... the new proving

The proving of Lithium carbonicum was the second homeopathic proving that I conducted. It was conducted with colleagues from the "School of Homeopathy"¹² of the Homöopathie-Forum in Gauting near Munich/Germany as a self experiment by 12 provers in the course of the 1994/95 curriculum.

Lithium carbonicum, 6C and 30C, was proved (6 provers took 6C and 6 provers took 30C). Every prover had a supervisor who observed and looked after the prover. Prover and supervisor did NOT know the substance. A placebo phase did not take place. Before taking the substance the supervisor took the prover's case in order to be able to clearly differentiate between new and old symptoms. The proving substance was taken as a 6C and 30C over several days, 3 times a day with the instruction to immediately discontinue as symptoms appeared.

Every symptom was immediately recorded by the prover and marked with the appropriate abbreviation: "new", "old", "altered old", "cured", "unusual". After a four months observation period of the provers/supervisors, the substance was revealed. During a group discussion as part of the Homeopathy School's curriculum a "vivid" picture of Lithium carbonicum arose.

Afterwards, the diaries were analyzed with focus on the "unusual" and "new" symptoms. Those symptoms were recorded.

The numbers in brackets at the end of every symptom give first the potency (either 6C or 30C), then the number of the diary/prover followed by the number of days after starting the proving in which the symptom appeared. (Exception: xx means that the symptom persisted over a longer period of time or during the entire proving.)

In the proving of Ozone¹³, the first one I conducted, I sorted the symptoms found in the diaries according to themes and listed them in the way Hahnemann and his successors did in the materia medicas. It is, however, not easy to read symptoms that are listed out of context without getting bored and it is also difficult to memorize them in this way. This is why I have decided to proceed differently in this proving and will give a synopsis after listing the symptoms.

This synopsis that can be used as a working hypothesis for the homeopathic remedy Lithium carbonicum, connects the new symptoms with the old sources (=OS) of existing provings. This will be followed by the repertory of the new symptoms and the old symptoms that correspond with this present proving.

... the collected symptoms of the new proving

The following symptoms are the notes of new symptoms from all provers and also the remarks of the supervisors, which observed the provers "from the outside" and recorded their findings.

Mind

Unusual perceptions

- During a walk along lake "Chiemsee" I am sensing a freshness, coolness with an association of ice, glacier, freshness (C30,9-01)
- I am increasingly fascinated by the color white. It is, as if "white" is attractive to me. Wind and nature, mountains and sky were very pleasant. Clear perception (C30,9-01)
- Morning grumpiness was gone soon after I was outdoors. The mountains and the sky were fascinating again (C30,9-02)
- 4 I am fascinated with mountains that I am looking at in photographs: landscapes, ice, glaciers = fascination, power, energy (C30,9-18)
- 5 The colors appear more radiant than usual, I feel an intensity of life, an ease and simultaneously a depth. I am touched to see that I am a little part of the world's big wheel and provided for by it (C30,19-00)
- 6 "Dopey" feeling, like "on a trip", feeling light. (C30,4-00)
- 7 I feel like I am having a buzz, I feel light and lively (C6,2-00)
- Feeling, as if I wasn't thinking with the head, but on another level. Sensation, as if head was empty. Usually many thoughts were buzzing around at once where nothing is left now. But it is not a feeling of thinking clearer, rather of thinking nothing anymore. I don't prepare what I say in my head, but say what comes up. A scary void of thoughts combined with a dislike for mental efforts. (C6,5-xx)

¹³ Anne Schadde: Ozon

- 9 I have to descend 6 stairs. They are wet from the rain and I am briefly wondering, if I will make it down the stairs without falling. (C30,10-00)
- 10 When I wake up at night I am sensing an "eye staring at me", a vision that comes alive all of a sudden, a face with ice-cold blue eyes is staring at me. Sensation as if my aura got holes and I am therefore more susceptible to such impressions. (C30,9-04)
- 11 Vision during the day: I had an accident, in which a car was damaged on the driver's side. (This vision kept coming back) (C30,9-15)

Laughter, Ease

- Prover is more cheerful than usual, laughs a lot; she appears more energetic, balanced, carefree. She is chuckling to herself without an apparent reason. She occupies more space, for example, she crosses the room very energized and announces that everyone else should do their share of chores (C30,9-xx) Prover still smiles a lot (C30,9-15)
- Happy mood, I have to laugh all the time without apparent reason. Everything appears somehow funny (C6,2-00)
- 14 I am in a good mood, silly, take everything easy (C6, 7-00)
- 15 I feel like joking and being silly, want to be gregarious (C6, 18-02)
- Oddly enough it doesn't bother me much to think of things that I have to take care of and to decide in the next days and weeks. (C6,12-04)
- 17 The "unfounded happiness", my tendency towards laughter decreased, also the spontaneity, emotionally flat. I feel stressed and worn out. (C30, 9-13)

Being awake/Clarity/Power

- 18 With the improvement of my stomach problem, my mood got "lighter": tranquil, contemplative; if I am challenged though by my children or husband, I can become determined. I am better at defending my personal space. (C30, 14-11)
- Today she is very busy and agile, appears to be very active (C30,9-02) Feeing of being very awake in spite of little sleep (C30,9-02)
- 20 During controversies actually over trifles I go for it, that means I am more aggressive and put up with less (C30,9-10)
- During an argument I feel the strength that would allow me to stay with myself, to defend my point and not get invested otherwise. I realized clearly the schemes that the others employed, but didn't feel that involved. Even though I was getting angry and aggravated I was able to escape that feeling and look at the situation staying "cooler". That is why I was able to go to sleep, not with a feeling of anger, but with the feeling of having finished an important confrontation and of having personally grown. (C6,18-17)

Oversensitivity of the senses

- 22 Sensitive to odors: body odor of others, food odor (particularly processed meats) (C30,9-02)
- 23 I am extremely sensitive to odors, pick up on all bad odors that are around. (C6,18-28)
- All day long very sensitive to odors, particularly smoke and body odors. This morning it was almost nauseating. I tried to breathe shallow (like during my pregnancies). (C30,10-07)
- 25 Sensitive towards noise and startling easily (C30,10-40)
- If somebody is crying, I will cry as well; if somebody is irritated, I will be irritable and so on. If I leave that particular person, my condition disappears within a few minutes (C30,10-25)
- I feel very open on the emotional plane and therefore experience my and other people's good and weak qualities very intensely. It is hard for me to express what I feel (C6,18-06)

Irritability

- I feel irritated, because magazines and books lie about all over. I feel constricted because of it and carp and nag about it; > fresh air. (C30,9-03)
- Quickly irritable, everything gets on my nerves faster. I criticize others easier than usual (C6,2-03) I am irritated, everything gets on my nerves immediately. I feel as if I were cut off from myself and don't understand my own reactions. (C6,2-06)
 My emotions are going crazy: I often react over-sensitively to ostensible conflicts. (C6,2-06)
- 30 Today I felt immensely irritated by neon light. It made me aggressive, I would have liked to destroy the bulbs ("shoot them out" with a pistol) or cut the electric cable. It got better when it got dark outside and artificial light was necessary. I believe the subtle flickering of the neon light got me so upset. (C30,10-18)
- Prover appears to be irritated and moody, reacts quite intensely towards little things (C6,3-02) I feel extremely impatient and irritable. My roommates say that I am hectic. (C6,3-04)
- 32 The noise level gets to me very much, it is an aggressive irritability. I am sensing myself more and give in to my impulses spontaneously. It is good to feel that I can defend my point (C6,18-22) I am easily irritated, I feel that I am sensing the full moon (C6,18-31)

Crying

- Had to cry for no reason; > wind, fresh air, sun. Prover cries as others console her, because she is overwhelmed by all of her old problems. (C30,10-25)

 Bouts of tears during the day: I am so easily moved when someone is nice to me; > evening. After I cry, I feel like I am freezing, ice cold, my teeth chatter; however, > cold air (C30,10-22)
- 34 I don't want to talk, because I am worried that I will burst into tears again. (C6,18-07)
- 35 After an argument I feel, as if all my strength were gone, I feel hurt and weak. I could cry, I have tears in my eyes. Do I feel self-pity? I am definitely very self centered. I feel as if the world were to hard for me, I long for the beautiful, true and good world (C30,9-18)

Restlessness

- 36 Prover is restless, can't sit calmly on the chair at the desk for a longer period of time (C6,3-06)
- 37 I am restless, unmotivated and appear nervous, want to leave the room, want to move. (C6,2-02)
- 38 Inner restlessness at night in bed, I pick nervously at my fingers (C6,7-04)
- 39 Inner restlessness like after large amounts of strong coffee (C6,12-00)

Depression - Fear - Worries

- Depressed, as if everything were meaningless. Would like to just sleep, feel rather introverted and not interested in contact. Feeling of premonition, that something could happen that I don't want, connected with fear (C30,9-06)
 - Worried over unfamiliar pain in abdominal region (C30,9-08)

- 45 I want company and at the same time to be by myself (C6,7-02)
- 46 Aversion to the company of loud and stupid people (C6,5-00)

- 47 Affectionate (C30,9-02)
- 48 I feel weak and tired and very much in need of affection (C6,2-01)
- 49 Calm, introverted mood, too many people make me feel uncomfortable. Longing for familiar people. (C6,18-00)

I leave my usual seat and sit somewhere else, where I am more surrounded by people, to feel more protected and secure, but at the same time making sure that I can write in my book without anybody being able to read it. (C6,18-08)

Today I feel separated from the others. I don't know what I am here for. Yet, I have a great desire for touch, physical union and melting together, for familiarity and closeness. (C6,18-27)

I feel very lonely, separated from others and not very alive. I cannot connect with people. I am separated from my feelings, respectively can't put them directly into action. (C6,18-32)

After a visit with an old friend of mine the events of that evening occupy my mind. Even though I have the feeling that I was with her, I also felt alone the whole time, she was far away from me. It was a strange feeling. I felt clearly that I was alone. Not in the sense of being lonely, but all by myself, depending only on myself, not a bridge crossing over to her. I didn't feel bad, but I was very conscious of my being alone, me as a person, me by myself. That is why I have a strong need to just be held, which makes me feel good. (C6,18-xx)

Reservedness – retreat - insecurity

- 50 Insecurity: "I don't know what to write", very undecided. The insecurity disappears when I occupy myself (C30,10-00)
 - At school the others often laugh about me, even though I think, I am not doing anything funny. That is slightly disturbing, because they don't say, why they are laughing, only that I had clearly changed. I feel a little insecure, as if I was drunk and would realize that I behave strangely. (C30,10-07)
 - Very little engaged in my dreams, I don't experience remorse or emotions. That is pretty much the opposite from what I feel while awake. (C30,10-xx)
- 51 Prover keeps avoiding an exchange, communication. She doesn't contact me, even though we planned it that way. (C6,3-09)
- 52 Tendency to retreat, insecurity, sadness (C30,9-16)
- 53 Strong doubts, if what I am doing is right. I feel overwhelmed, don't want to do anything. (C6,7-02)

- 54 Time passes too slowly, minutes feel like hours and I feel listless. (C6,2-02)
- 55 Time passes too slowly, I keep looking at the clock and the hand hasn't moved. (C6,18-06+07)
- 56 Slowness, tranquility; I slow down some and take my time while shopping. (C30,14-00)
- 57 Slow thinking (C6,7-00)

Concentration

- Prover says about studying: "in the morning dull, like in a fog in the evening clear, good." (C30,10-08)
 - Prover feels pleasantly stimulated, can concentrate well. (C30,10-19)

 - Mentally absent, not as controlled as usual, more emotional. Forgets to tell things that she wanted to tell. (C30,9-08)
 - My thoughts constantly wander off, have to bring myself back, don't really know where I wandered off to. (C30,9-09)

- 68 Feeling as if my head were disabled. I can't think quite right anymore. (C30,19-00)

Confusion - Mistakes

- 69 I always have to re-determine where I currently am. That is particularly bad after waking up, when my eyes aren't open yet. (C30,9-03)
- 70 Dazed: want to use shampoo instead of lotion and fill my thermos with water from the faucet instead of tea. (C30,10-09)

I frequently misspell words at school, skip the vowel at the beginning or the middle of a word. (C30,10-20)

- 71 Confused, when I talk or tell something I say the wrong thing. For example I say "Ingrid" and mean to say "Ulrike" (C30,9-03)
 - My tongue slips and I say 2 o'clock but mean to say 4 o'clock; notice it only later (C30,9-02)

Bad memory for names of well-known people. (C6,5-xx)

Fog

- 76 It is quite an effort for me to focus; everything seems to be in a fog (as if with a camera's soft focus). (C6,2-00)
- 77 Sensation as if the fog were lifted, even though I didn't notice a fog before. (C30,4-06)

Re-checking

- 78 Goes back to re-check if car lights are switched off: "Currently I have to re-check everything twice." (C30,9-08)
- My daughter made me aware that I have to always reassure myself of having switched off the car lights and locked the door of the house etc. (C30,10-04)

Music

- 80 Aversion to music (C30,9-01)
- 81 Like to listen to romantic oldies and dance (C30,10-07)
- 82 I feel better after listening to Mozart's "Requiem", more aware, not as undecided as before. (C6,18-01)

Completely immersed myself in a piece of music titled "Misery". (C6,18-07)

I have the feeling that I want to listen to music (unusual for myself). Sitting in church listening to the organist rehearse. Currently music is very important to me. Occasionally I experience a great sadness about nothing in particular, which on the other hand relates to everything. That means I couldn't relate this sadness to something current but many previous occurences in my life. All the missed opportunities to give or feel love and simply accept life without resisting it. I particularly enjoy mellow, classical music these days, especially violin music, very sentimental music. Instead of staying at school I drove to the store, went to the music department and bought Mozart's "Requiem" and Gregorian chants accompanied by saxophone. When I walked from the school to the subway I felt completely elated. I experienced it as a physical sensation, rushing down all the way into the tips of my toes. I saw colorful flower leaves on the sidewalk, geometrical shapes of the bare branches of trees, the sun was shining, and it was warm. In the store I experienced again this sadness at times, amongst all the beautiful things that can be bought there. In the evening I listened to a clarinet concert and a horn concert, but both felt too happy, too shallow. Right now it has to be heavy and intense. I believe that the remedy opened my ears to this sort of music. Before this music wouldn't resonate with me. Now I feel that I can experience suffering through it (and therefore redemption). (C6, 18-08+xx)

Dreams

- 83 A star, that supposedly shines also during the day, an hour after sunrise (C30,9-01)
- 84 Exhausting dreams that I can't remember. I almost couldn't make it out of bed. (C6,2-01+02+03+04)
- 85 Somewhere in a different country. In the distance is the view of mountains. Have the view of a distant mountain range inside of me: mountains rather rocky with ice in between; clear, blue skies (C30,9-01)
- I am in the mountains with my husband and children. We take a chairlift up to the top. It is winter, snow everywhere and cold with steel blue sky, the sun is shining. I enjoy being high up in the mountains. The ascent is rather steep and suddenly I remember, that my husband can't handle that at all and then I see that my daughter is beginning to swing. I reprimand her and am concerned about my husband. After that I can't enjoy the ride. When we arrive at the top the lift decends on the other side. We stay seated. The scenery is completely different from the higher mountain ranges; no snow, like autumn, not as cold, but also not as beautiful. (C6,18-12)
- 87 I am with my husband in the Himalayas. I am glad to be here and feel completely happy. We even find a hotel with a hot shower. It is very quiet here, very few people, since the season hasn't started yet. It is still too cold. A truck painted with Tibetan motifs drives into the mountains. I would like to continue the journey, but that will happen later. For now I am here.
 - Feeling: Himalayas signify clarity, to completely stand by myself, power, originality, immediate feelings. (C6,19-17)
- 88 Trekking in the high-mountain ranges with some friends. There is a difficult, steep drop-off with a thick root-system. The others meander through it, I look for another path. This path drops steeply and

- straight down. I jump down and land safely in spite of the great height. Shortly after that the root-system comes down the slope. (C6,5-04)
- 89 Open room (that means, it is a room, but I don't see walls); a big table, people are sitting around it; I get up from the table and see my empty seat on the bench.

 Feeling: I feel uncomfortable, because I attracted attention that way. (C30,9-01)
- 90 My girl friend and I carry large wicker trunks on our heads (one trunk on both heads). With the outside hands we hold the trunk, so it doesn't tip over.
 - Feeling: I think it is great that we can carry that much together; I also find the technical aspect of carrying it interesting.
- We arrive at the house of my girl friend, different mood, children in the house. My girl friend looks different, much heavier than usual. A heavy-set strange flute instructor criticizes her posture, wasn't content with her shoulder-head posture. I was supposed to work on that area.

 Comment: I call my girl friend the next day. She really had problems with her shoulder-neck area because or while playing the flute and needed a massage. Just tonight she woke up again with a stiff and painful right shoulder. (C30,9-01)
- 92 Rainy atmosphere, dull, not very clear. I had to walk through an underpass by myself, which was eerie, leaves and trash on the ground. It was a comforting feeling that there were two other people in the underpass. A girl was looking for a plastic bag, which was empty.

 Feeling: I wasn't able to understand why the girl would hang out in this dark, unpleasant underpass for an empty plastic bag. (C30,9-01)
- 93 People at a large table. I drank a cup of cold cocoa. The cold was pleasant, but I experienced the sweet flavor as repulsive. It was about old and new relationships. (C30,9-07)
- 94 An unfamiliar woman showed me a house from the inside. It was sitting on posts. One could see beds lined up. (C30,9-02)
- We meet in some private rooms for a workshop. I enacted a word much better than the others would have given me credit for. The apartment is temporarily rearranged and is being used by an older couple. Would they make this place available for another meeting of ours again? That is questionable, because the group, particularly me, left without cleaning the toilet. (C30,14-10)
- I have to use the bathroom. The bathroom is a primitive wooden crate, on one side the door keeps opening up. One has to hold it shut the whole time. The bowl is very high and has a rim made of unplaned boards one is supposed to sit on. A groove runs around it that drains excrement and urine. I don't know how to do this, the seat is almost too high for me and completely rough, one door is open and on the ground is this drain. During the ordeal the sleeve of my cardigan slips down and ends up in that drain, in addition I have to hold the door shut. I am disgusted.
 - Feeling: Total stress, obviously everything formed a conspiracy against me. It is disgusting and additionally painful, because all these people are standing around (C6,18-13)

- Peas in a thermos, handed them out on doll plates. A man kept rinsing his nose with Q-Potencies. All of this was completely disgusting. (C30,10-20)
- I was very soiled with grass-like stuff that totally stuck to me, had to scrape it off with a knife. I was slightly panicky, if I can even scrape this off.

 Comment: I had forgotten about the dream, and only remembered it in the shower, when I had the desire to wash myself very thoroughly. (C30,10-16)
- Mood is like during a competition or its preparation time: female gymnast practiced some acrobatics. I was perplexed about the powerful and artistic gymnastics performance. It was peculiar that the gymnast was naked. (C30,9-05)
- 100 About soccer (usually I don't relate to soccer) (C6,18-02+08)
- 101 I dreamed about music. This morning I had the first beats of Mozart's "Requiem" in my head. (C6,18-10)
- 102 Indian medicineman (I didn't see him, but knew that he was there) pressed on my back outward and downward. I saw that a rock of the size of a flat egg of gray color moved downward through a narrow passage. It was a sigh of relief after a certain point had been passed. The rock got flatter and smaller. When it passed my calf, a feeling came like: "Thank God, it got away from the endangered area" gratefulness.

Feeling: that was a very intense dream (C30,9-09)

- 103 I was in India at a meditation camp. People tied scarves around head and forehead to catch their sweat. I didn't do that, made no experience and had no vision. I seemed all like a show to me. (C30,10-03)
- 104 A pink colored symbol was placed in the middle of a room (geometrical shape: rhombus, or pentagon or hexagon?). Some (about 9) people were sitting in a circle (men and women alternating) around this symbol. My father and my former Tai Chi instructor were amongst them. My father was supposed to name 10 rules or properties, in any case 10 words of a certain order. Meditation atmosphere, pleasant ambience. (C30,9-07)
- 105 Sandy beach; dolphins and small whales came all the way to the beach. People went into the water, played with the animals petted them.
 - Feeling: It was pleasant being with the animals, they gave comfort, they had incredible spaciousness and depth. (C30,09-04)
- 106 Scenery: Bottom of the ocean (without ocean) like a coral reef, a lot of sand, dolphin that went ashore and a rhinoceros-like animal.
 - Feeling: I am the observer, saw the animals with great interest and was amazed about the strange scenery. (C30,9-05)
- 107 Evening atmosphere, sunset atmosphere at the ocean. Deep, dark ocean. Walked along the ocean (without big waves) over islands of grass to get closer to the ocean; looked for a place to sleep.

Snack-bar where one could choose food. I was thinking about it for so long, that the man at the cash register got impatient. A youth hostel on a hill; I really wanted a room with a view of the ocean. (C30,9-10)

- 108 Erotic dream with tender feelings of intimacy and understanding with someone, who in reality appears to be rather unapproachable or arrogant (C6,18-01)
- 109 Two men smooching

Feeling: They are melting into each other, "a semi-indecent dream" (C30,10-01)

- 110 Various dreams about jealousy: to be jealous and to make my partner jealous. (C6,18-xx)
- 111 I get gas for a big RV that contains an "Ugly Duckling" (nickname for a French car model). Gas spills onto the brakes. People want me to change the brake pads, but they keep going. I feel responsible and am worried that something will happen. When testing the brakes they turn out to respond abruptly I am quite confused and feel out of place (C30,10-01)
- 112 My mother sent me to the institution where my brother lives. I thought, I was supposed to help out, but there was no work for me there. My mother made a deal with the head of the institution about the price she had to pay for me.

Feeling: I wasn't really shocked, but rather astonished (C30,10-02)

113 Arrived late at school

Comment: I really have to pay more attention to the time available and use it better (C30,10-45)

- 114 Dreamed about the class mates of my oldest son. I was somewhat sad that they make the same mistakes as their fathers. Even though I had a close relationship with them, I felt on the outside. I wasn't distressed about that, but saw it as the way things go. (C30,10-18)
- 115 I was in an unfamiliar apartment with my family. We left the apartment. I had the key. I passed many unfamiliar residential areas, houses, streets and alleys. The houses varied a lot in character, partly modern, partly colonial. I passed a blue gleaming vault. Sometimes the streets were crowded with people, sometimes they were completely empty. After a while I realized that I was actually looking for the apartment again for which I had the key. (C30,9-05)
- 116 I am on my way home with my son. Along the way we entered an unfamiliar apartment. My son washed his shirt there and just as we were about to leave the door bell rang and the owner of the apartment stood outside. I opened the door and explained in a calm manner that we weren't burglars. He was a gloomy looking foreigner wearing a turban.

Feeling: I was surprised that, even though I was the stranger there, I wasn't scared (C30,4-01)

117 I walk through a big city, I have a goal and know the way, even though it isn't easy to find through narrow, windy streets with lots of traffic. Then I am in a clinic. A little girl is there all by herself without mother or relatives. Her doctor explains the treatment to me. I can't make a decision, the parents have to do that, but I think that the little girl gets sicker because she feels abandoned.

Between the doctor, me and the girl is always a tall table; I talk to the girl, want to comfort her. That makes her more alert.

Remark: I realize through this dream that, even though I have the knowledge and I am involved in something, I have no power over the decision. I have to watch idly and can at best give some advice. (C30,14-14)

- 118 I had an incurable disease. Under no circumstances did I want to pass slowly and painfully. A girl friend came and wanted to help me. She wanted to shoot me through the keyhole. I said: You never aim right, and walked away. (C6,12-12)
- 119 I am wrapped from head to toe in white bandages (like dressings) and I am being un-wrapped from head to toe. That gives me the feeling of liberation. (C6,3-11)
- 120 I am tied with invisible shackles, I whip my arms around and gain a little more freedom to move them; I also try to scream to wake myself up. I wake up completely beat. (C6,5-01)
- 121 Dream about babies in playpens or cages. I am not upset about it, but wonder, how to feed them best in there (technically). (C30,10-08)
- 122 I am in the military with blue uniforms and rifles. We are positioned opposite each other, it can start any moment. I don't want to, I am scared and want to change my rifle. The shooting begins; I grab another rifle that doesn't work properly. The officer, who is now irritated and upset, shows me how it works: bullets need to be stuck into colored tubes. The chaos is growing. When it finally works, the war is over. Only 5 out of 50 people survived. The dead were collected. I want to do something (sense of duty) and have to shoot at pigeons. (C6,5-01)
- 123 My supervisor and I got arrested, because we said the truth. She was put in a cage, where I joined her. We thought about how to escape. There was a feeling of being constantly scrutinized by a controlling power. The captivity wasn't only related to a prison, but was part of a bigger picture or a different dimension, like a whole city or another planet. (C30,4-08)
- 124 Big city of half-timbered buildings, I walk into a store high up (5th floor). Netting is tightened there on which one walks from level to level. Cars are driving far below. Nothing is secured, on the edge it drops steeply. I clutch at the netting and roll (like a trapeze artist) to the lower level. A man speaks to me calmingly. (C6,5-04)
- 125 I had to write my Italian homework but didn't know anything. The teacher was well-meaning and tried to help me a little unfortunately without avail. I wrote weird stuff. Shortly before time is up a friend appears and dictates everything to me while shaking his head in disbelief. What a relief! (C6,12-04)

SUMMARY

...the themes of the proving

According to § 111 of the Organon the homeopathic proving tries to discover what kind of reliable disease symptoms "each substance according to its peculiarity" is able to engender. Which are the "special, uncommon, odd, and distinguishing (characteristic) signs" of this present homeopathic proving according to § 154 of the Organon?

The following summary is a working hypothesis, which tries to put the themes of this new proving into a context and – if possible – to compare them with the symptoms of older sources (marked OS, see literature index) taken from the repertory. In context with some symptoms we refer to the pharmacology and toxicology (see relevant chapter). The exponential numbers show the number of the symptom in the present proving.

Mind

As part of the unusual perceptions nature², freshness, coolness, ice¹, mountains, sky^{3,4} stand out, which also appeared in some dreams: mountains, ice, snow, clear blue sky, Himalaya⁸⁵⁻⁸⁸ and cold⁹³; "I am increasingly fascinated by the color white." 2 , "colors appear more radiant" , "Dream: star that shines..." Dream: star that shines..."

Provers are in a "cheerful"^{12,13} mood (provers are "silly"^{14,15}) and yet centered "I feel the strength that would allow me to stay with myself"²¹, "defending my personal space"¹⁸.

Symptoms like "I feel like I am having a buzz", "like on a trip" indicate a component that expresses itself on a mental level with "live visions" loss pharmacology: increased memory for visual impulses)

Hypersensitive reaction to "odors"²²⁻²⁴, "sounds"^{25,32} and great sensitivity on the "emotional level"^{26,27}, which led to "irritability, everything gets on my nerves"²⁸⁻³² combined with emotional reactions "crying for no reason, bouts of tears"³³⁻³⁵ (OS: Mind, Crying – Despair).

"Restlessness"³⁶⁻³⁹ externally and internally, but also "laziness"^{61,62} and control issues^{78,79}.

The sensation of being "in a fog"^{76,77} reappears as part of the vision "sensation as if haze before the eyes"^{147,151}.

Depressions with "premonitions"⁴⁰, "fear about the future"^{41,42} (OS: Mind; Despair – sadness, low spirits, depression)

Behavior is ambivalent, alternating between "need for affection"^{45,47,48,49} (OS: Community, Company, Sociability; want of) and the feeling that "everything/everyone is too close together"^{44,45,46}, between "loneliness"⁴⁹ (OS: Mind; Weeping; Loneliness, about his) and aversion to closeness. "Insecurity"⁵⁰, "shyness"^{50,53}, "reservation"⁴⁹ express the "retreat"⁵⁰⁻⁵². (OS: Mind; despair – Helplessness; feeling of – Forsaken feeling; sighing with)

Mental symptoms as "time passes too slowly" ⁵⁴⁻⁵⁶ and general "slowness" ⁵⁶⁻⁶⁰ are combined with lack of concentration ^{63-68,74} and confusion "I always have to re-determine where I am" ⁶⁹, "dazed" ⁷⁰, "mistakes when writing or speaking" ⁷¹⁻⁷⁵. (OS: Mind; confusion, mental – Memory; weakness (loss of) (Pharmacology: Prolonged reaction time, loss of memory)

REPERTORY

The repertory is of great help in daily practice. It is a tool and hence, results depend on who uses it. The remedies found by repertorizing rubrics are hints and can help in choosing the right remedy. However, a repertorization can only show the adequate remedy if those symptoms were chosen that express the disease of the patient. As Hahnemann says in § 3 of the Organon, it is important to first discover "what is to be cured in each single case of disease" and after that to study, whether or not a remedy found through repertorization is the right one for the patient. This is why it is significant to have the totality of proving symptoms available to be studied.

This new proving produced new symptoms as additions to the symptoms of Lithium carbonicum already existing in the repertory, which were taken from older provings (see literature index). The old sources were either small provings or collections of symptoms by various authors.

Since this Lithium carbonicum proving is a new proving of an already existing remedy it was naturally important to us to find out which of the new symptoms are congruent with the old symptoms that already exist in the repertory.

For this reason we created a division: after listing the new symptoms we list those symptoms that confirm the congruency of proving symptoms from previous centuries with today's.

The numbers in brackets following the symptom show the number of remedies found in the corresponding rubric.
